

Public Access To Schedules

Turning on Allow Public Schedule Access makes your game schedule readable by anyone with the link — no login required. What it does not do is announce it. Nothing appears on your event page by itself.

Instead, saving that setting automatically creates a bulletin for you, titled Schedules Available!, in Communications > Bulletins. That bulletin is created Inactive — it is written and waiting, but invisible to everyone until you set it Active yourself. You decide when the announcement goes up, and you can edit or rename it before it does. If you had an older schedule bulletin from a previous season, it is removed at the same time so you are not left with two.

That gap between access and announcement is deliberate: it gives you a window to have your club reps check the schedule before the general public sees a word about it.

The walkthrough below follows that sequence end to end.

01

Before: access is off

CONFIGURE JOB &gt; SCHEDULING

Allow Public Schedule Access

The game schedule is hidden from the public.

The starting point, on Configure Job > Scheduling. Your schedule is visible to you and your staff and to nobody else. Allow Public Schedule Access is the switch this whole guide is about. Read the grey line underneath it — it always tells you the current state in plain words, so you never have to guess which way the switch is thrown.

02

After: access is on

CONFIGURE JOB &gt; SCHEDULING

Allow Public Schedule Access

The game schedule is visible to the public.

Save, and the schedule is readable at teamsportsinfo.com/your-event/schedule by anyone with the address. The grey line confirms it. Your event page still says nothing about it.

03

A new bulletin, switched off

COMMUNICATIONS &gt; BULLETINS

| TITLE                              | STATUS   | START       | END |
|------------------------------------|----------|-------------|-----|
| Schedules Available!               | Inactive | Nov 1, 2026 | —   |
| Club Reps: Pay Team(s) Balance Due | Active   | Sep 2, 2026 | —   |

A bulletin titled Schedules Available! now sits in Communications > Bulletins. It arrives Inactive. It is not on your event page and nobody can see it. Edit it freely while it's off — reword it, rename it, add your own notes.

04

You switch it on

COMMUNICATIONS &gt; BULLETINS

| TITLE                              | STATUS | START       | END |
|------------------------------------|--------|-------------|-----|
| Schedules Available!               | Active | Nov 1, 2026 | —   |
| Club Reps: Pay Team(s) Balance Due | Active | Sep 2, 2026 | —   |

By hand, when you're ready. This is the only step that announces the schedule, and nothing does it for you.

YOUR EVENT PAGE &gt; NEWS &amp; UPDATES

Schedules Available!

View Schedule →
App Store
Google Play

The bulletin on your public event page, with a View Schedule button and links to the TSIC-Events app already built in.

SCHEDULING CHECKLIST

TOOLS available once games are scheduled
☐ Master Schedule

☐ Rescheduler

☒ Schedule Viewer

☐ Schedule Reports

☒ QA Results

☐ Tournament
Parking

☐ Mobile Scorers

☒ Send Club
Coaches Preview
Email

A button in the Tools row at the bottom of the Scheduling Checklist:

Send Club Coaches Preview Email

. The Tools row stays greyed out until games are actually scheduled. This is how you get the schedule in front of your reps and their coaches before the announcement goes up.

SEND CLUB COACHES PREVIEW EMAIL

The schedule link in this letter is an ordinary link, not a personal one — reps can forward it to their coaches and it still works. It only opens for them once the schedule is public.

RECIPIENTS 20

Club name: The name of the club (e.g. The 1st Club)

SUBJECT

Please review the schedule for !JOBNAME

BODY

Hi !PERSON,

The schedule for !JOBNAME is posted. Please review your teams and let us know right away if anything looks wrong.

!SCHEDULELINK

Please forward this to your coaches so they can check their own games, and send any corrections back through us.

Send to 20 club reps

It goes to every active club rep with at least one team in the schedule. You get the count and the full list before you send, and the letter is yours to edit. Leave !SCHEDULELINK in place — that becomes the link to your schedule. Reps with no address on file, or who have opted out of email, appear greyed out in the list and are not counted or sent to.

ORDER MATTERS

Send the email only after public access is on. The link inside the letter opens nothing until the schedule is public.

